

BE VIGILANT

Protect yourself and your family
from exploitation and trafficking

Resources and contacts
January 2023

Do you feel pressured into doing things? Are you being exploited, threatened or assaulted? You can talk to a professional and be protected. The contact details of various associations and organisations can be found in this booklet.

The exploitation of women, men and children can take many forms that are punishable by law: sexual abuse, domestic slavery, forced begging, forced labour, coercion to commit crimes, forced marriage, etc.

STAY SAFE

Stay vigilant, especially if someone, whether it be a man or a woman:

Tries to obtain your identity documents (other than the authorities and authorised associations),

Tries to take your phone, computer or any other means of communication,

Tries to separate you from your family or loved ones,

Forces you to engage in an activity or have sex (including to pay off a debt),

Promises to help you (with transport, food, etc.) or offers administrative, legal and social support in exchange for money,

Makes unrealistic promises to you,

Makes you work but doesn't pay you or keeps you in poor working conditions.

IF YOU ARE IN IMMEDIATE DANGER,
YOU CAN ASK THE
POLICE OR THE FRENCH
GENDARMERIE FOR HELP, OR CALL 17 OR
THE EUROPEAN
EMERGENCY NUMBER 112.

01.

PROTECT YOUR INFORMATION

Your personal information and identity documents are sensitive materials and must be kept in a safe and confidential place. Take a photo of them and e-mail yourself a copy as this could help you if you lose them. Only share them with official authorities and organisations if they ask you to do so.

Malicious people may try to build trust in order to take advantage of you and your situation. Never share your personal information or accept offers from strangers on social media or unverified websites.

02.

KEEP IN TOUCH WITH YOUR LOVED ONES

Stay in touch with your family or loved ones. Don't get separated from your family or loved ones.

Keep your phone on you at all times.

Memorise the phone number of someone you trust and agree on a code word that you can use if you are ever in danger and are unable to speak freely.

03.

USE OFFICIAL CHANNELS

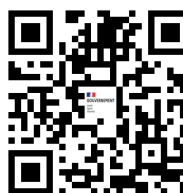

In France, official and free services have been set up to welcome you and provide care and support.

Official information about the services and your rights can be found on the following websites:

General information on help.unhcr.org or, for people fleeing Ukraine, on the Ministry of the Interior website.

UNHCR

Government

Use the services offered by authorities or official associations, including when looking for accommodation. Ask for the names and official details of the organisations and associations that offer you help.

Use public transport. If you get into someone's vehicle, take a photo of the number plate and send it to someone you trust.

If you are staying with someone outside of the official accommodation channels, ask this person to see their details (identity and address).
