PROVINCIAL SERVICES AND ASSISTANCE DOCUMENT ON GENDER-BASED VIOLENCE & PSYCHO-SOCIAL SUPPORT

Given the increased levels of violence and stress due to future uncertainty, loss of livelihoods and disruption of normal life caused by Covid-19, there is an increased reporting of violence incidents and deterioration of psychosocial wellbeing in Turkey and across the world, including for refugee communities.

In addition to the countrywide Gender-based Violence/Psycho-social Support services information document, please consult this provincial level information on available services and assistance. It provides you with additional referral points where you can approach in case you are or someone you know is exposed to or at risk of gender-based violence and/or in need of psycho-social support.

If you or someone you know are exposed to gender-based violence (including rape, domestic violence, sexual harassment, child marriage) OR show signs of mental distress and changes in behavior such as physical or verbal expressions of hopelessness, sadness, extreme boredom, depressions and/or anxiety and need psychosocial support, remember that you are not alone. Help is available.

You can seek help confidentially through the below provided information.

Remember that all listed support and assistance are free.

For further information about available services, please consult the UNHCR Turkey Services Advisor. This is a simple, intuitive online platform that provides up-to-date information about availability of humanitarian services. It is available in five languages (English, Turkish, Arabic, Farsi, Kurdish).

For more information, please feel free to call the UNHCR counseling line from:
444 48 68

Alternatively, you can email UNHCR at uran@unhcr.org.

UNHCR TURKEY

PROVINCIAL SERVICES AND ASSISTANCE DOCUMENT ON GENDER-BASED VIOLENCE & PSYCHO-SOCIAL SUPPORT

Given the increased levels of violence and stress due to future uncertainty, loss of livelihoods and disruption of normal life caused by Covid-19, there is an increased reporting of violence incidents and deterioration of psychosocial wellbeing in Turkey and across the world, including for refugee communities.

In addition to the countrywide GBV/MHPSS services information, please consult the below provided localized information which provides additional referral points where you can approach in case you are or someone you know is exposed to or at risk of violence and/or in need of mental health and/or psycho-social support.

If you or someone you know are exposed to violence or need psychosocial support, remember that you are not alone. Help is available.

You can seek help confidentially through the below provided information.

Remember that all listed support and assistance are free.

For further information about available services, please consult the UNHCR Turkey Services Advisor. This is a simple, intuitive online platform that provides up-to-date information about availability of humanitarian services. It is available in five languages (English, Turkish, Arabic, Farsi, Kurdish).

The below are mainly public services that are available in these provinces.

For the services provided by NGOs and UN Agencies in Southeast Turkey, please have a look at GBV Remote and Hotline Service Mapping for the available services from civil society organizations. Those organizations will also support your access to the services below listed.

For more information, please feel free to call the UNHCR counseling line from:
444 48 68

Alternatively, you can email UNHCR at turan@unhcr.org.
